"And now for something completely different (and cool)."
There's a musical group known as "Melody Sheep."? Their style is to use short samples of audio and build music with it.? Well, someone in that group must be a CW ham.

In the piece "Children of Planet Earth," samples of Earth's children saying "Hello" in their native languages plus some greetings from adults were compiled from the famous "Golden Records" launched with the Voyager 1 and Voyager 2 spacecraft which are now in interstellar space (google them if unfamiliar).
Interspersed in the greetings is Morse "HI" (di-di-di-dit? di-dit).
Near the end, starting at 4:14, is a phrase sent in Code at about 25 WPM.? Can? you read it?
Clue: It's not English, but it is a real motto.

Charlotte NC hamfest photos
A good time was had by all during Friday setup and afternoon hamfest.
This hamfest runs 3-7 Friday and 8-5 Saturday. This year was the first time they have had outdoor tailgating as well as indoor flea market tables.

I am moving from Austin to a much more sane environment in Tulsa, and a WRL Globe Trotter will go to the recycle bin unless it finds a home before April 6th.

The Globe Trotter was a product acquired by Leo Meyerson. It came out as a WRL kit in 1946. This one was built by W5PRO, Chuck McCullough, most likely in the 1949-1951 time frame. Chuck was a CW operator, so the Heising modulator wiring was likely not completed. Some coils are with it, and several tubes are missing. Chuck made an above-chassis mod in the 807 compartment to probably optimize 10m performance?

It is a 9" rack panel in a traditional black wrinkle case with a hinged lid. Front panel is not modified or badly worn, though not "prime". Chassis is dirty from 70 years of garage time.

I am saddened to think of this early pioneer's demise. It is really heavy! Contact cell at 512 924 7126 or nbroline at austin.rr.com.

Free to anyone. Probably not worth shipping.

Other BA and legacy test equipment will follow.

I was friends with Leo. Wrote his bio. The real truth is another person started it and didn't finish the job. Leo twisted my arm to take what had been started and write it over.

That piece needs to be in a museum. It had started as a transmitter designed and built by Ted McElroy, the Ted McElroy of code-speed fame. McElroy Manufacturing sold it as the MT-35, and WRL acquired the right to offer it as the ?Globe Trotter?. I believe WRL was requested legally (by the lawyers for RCA) not to continue use of that name since RCA was already using 'Globe Trotter' as a model name in both the USA and Canada. WRL continued to use just the Globe part of the name, capitalizing on it in their logo, with a different surname each for a series of subsequent transmitters.

You might look at shipping by bus. 100 lb Austin Atlanta in a large enough box to offer six inches padding is $141. That's with Greyhound. I shipped an unpackaged Thunderbolt amp from Mass to Atlanta by express bus for $100. Got here fine. Austin is not express so it will ride three different busses...at least...and need to be well packaged.

I once shipped TWO Mite teletypes in one box by bus. Very heavy for their size. It worked well.

Nick,

If there would be a way to ship it to New Mexico (87047) for around $100 - for example to the Greyhound terminal in Albuquerque - I'd volunteer to keep it out of the recycle bin. If someone else makes a better offer, let them have it though.

A heads up on shipping charges

I've started using Pirate Ship (.com) to ship via UPS and the discounts are significant over the retail price at the UPS website. Their web presence is well organized , you print a UPS label and drop your package off at the UPS shop.

Pirate Ship gets the same "bundled" type of rate that places like Ebay do.

Highly recommended

"Jay," NS5F, a leader in the Dallas area AM community and a really good guy, has excused himself from our table and taken his seat at The Master's Table.
Godspeed, Jay.

I have "restored" lots of BA's over the years and would currently like to find a good SX-28 candidate that would be affordable and within a day's drive from Oklahoma City, where I live.

If you know of one that might fill the bill, please give me a holler.

Thanks.

I have two SX-29A for sale.

Both require minimal refurbishing.

Cannot ship.items.
